A wonderful sixth Village Affair

By Virginia Parke

The Carmel Valley Village Improvement Committee (CVVIC) did it again. Over 450 people braved rain clouds to attend and support the Sixth Annual Village Affair. Held at Los Laureles Lodge donated by hosts Gordon and Noel Hentschel, the event benefits pathway and beautification projects within the Carmel Valley Village area.

The mood was one of thankfulness and celebration. Many are still digging out from the recent flood. "We are so thankful to be here and support our community. We're still here, that is what is important," stated Lory Swiss, CVVIC ticket sales and accounting chair. She estimated the event raised approximately $25,000. "This is an incomplete accounting," she stressed.

The funds will be used to continue the planned pathways' system. Other projects planned for completion in 1995 include: the permanent planting of the Welcome Garden, placement of benches alongside pathways, lantern in the Village, and miscellaneous landscaping. In 1994 CVVIC completed construction of the Welcome Garden. They also finished pathways at the Community Center on Ford Road, and on Via Contenta and Pilot Road by Tularcitos School.

Chair Tony Glanville, acknowledged the legacy of last year's chair, Peter Coakley. "He made it easy for me." He expressed appreciation of the organization and efforts of both the committee and participants. The committee chairs this year also included: Daniel Barduzzi, Demi Briscoe, Harriet Busick, Jeff Frye, Lee Rieman, Art and June Taylor, Joan Vandervort, Burney Threadgill, Leslie Voss, Chuck Vout, Rickey Wolf and Roger Williams.

Wine and culinary selections spotlighted the outstanding quality available locally. The food selections were thoughtful coordinated. You could begin with appetizers then soup and salad followed by an intriguing array of main course samples topped off by elegant desserts. Accompanying the abundant dining choices were an impressive selection of wines from local vineyards.

CUSD School Board Report

By Mary Beth Bowman

Carmel Unified School District Board of Education members are learning that replacing a superintendent is no easy task. The regular January slate of meetings has been divided and extended to accommodate four presentations from different groups vying to be the Superintendent Search Advisor.

The district split its agenda between Thursday Jan. 12 and Tuesday Jan. 17 to hear from groups such as the California School Boards Association and Trident Enterprises. Two other groups gave presentations as this issue of the Sun went to print.

The representatives from these groups stressed their service and support and (in the case of the first two groups) will cost close to the same dollar amount: an average of $16,000. Both CSBA and Trident say the search and actual hiring will take three or four months. Both of them stresses community involvement beyond school administration, teachers and union representatives.

Current Superintendent Vance Baldwin had little to say during the presentations except to respond to a question from the audience. A classified employee within the district expressed concern over a time limit imposed on finding a successor and Baldwin affirmed he plans to retire by August, but is flexible. Board President Daniel Hightower assured the woman that every effort is being made to find a suitable candidate in time for a smooth transition. "We won't be a captain-less ship," he said.

The "captain" in this case praised his "crew" for their valiant response to the flooding last week. "I want to publicly commend the staff for the way they stepped forward and responded," he said. He praised everyone, from administration personnel, principals and teachers, to the bus drivers and custodians.

At the same time, though, Baldwin noted the imbalance of the Emergence Action Plan in the sense that it is very "heavy" on earthquakes and "a little too light" on floods and rock slides. However, some preventive measures did work, such as the communication systems between schools

Responding to community need, members of Carmel Valley Boy Scout Troop 9, joined leaders Rich Powers and Richard Carillo with enthusiasm and shovels began tackling the clean-up of some the most severely damaged properties in the Rosie's Bridge area.

Stephan State, Aaron Carrillo, Ral Powers and Chris Davenport moved mountains of mud out of 87 year-old Johnny Ullin garage and garden. Richard and Danny Comacho, Skip and Chip Powers along with Gury Khalsa pushed, dragged and dug damaged household items and mud from the Hennessy's.

Other members working up and down the street where needed and in Mission Fields included: Ryan Melcher, Andrew Jones, Will Hints, David Perryman, Roger Balyon, Kory Augustson, and Byron Perryman. THANK YOU on behalf of the residents you assisted and the community.

A special bouquet to Roger Thomas. Upon observing that the street was rapidly turning into a water way, went across the street to get Johnny Ullin. Ullin has been ill. After the paramedics came, he asked Roger to go back and make sure his pet rabbit, Buggy was safe. Accomplishing the task, Roger stepped off the porch into what he thought was about 3 feet of water, only to find himself up to his chin and being swept down stream. "I grabbed a tree, stopped myself, then a rail road tie hit me in the shins. I thought I was finished." He struggled back up out of the sink hole and was stranded in Ullin's house the rest of the night wondering if the house was going to be carried off by raging water.

Kathleen Tarp standing on her porch, observed that most of the street's yards were now in hers, along with a diesel tank and various pieces of outdoor furniture. Donna Heard not only operated the Rosie's Bridge clean-up, but also the Mid Valley sand bagging operation along with Steve Wolff. There are so many more. THANK YOU ALL!

OBITUARIES

ROBERTA GENEVIEVE BAIRD

Roberta Genevieve Baird of Carmel died at Beverly Manor Convalescent Hospital in Monterey on January 1, 1995 following a brief illness.

Ms. Baird was born in Sanger, California on January 4, 1911, but had been a resident of Carmel for the past 35 years. A sportscar enthusiast and animal lover, Ms. Baird was also active in multiple arts groups.

A professional x-ray technician in San Francisco and the Peninsula at Community Hospital, Ms. Baird attended Reed College in Oregon. She died, after a short illness, 3 days before her 84th birthday.

She leaves behind many friends and loved ones throughout the Peninsula and California.

Contributions may be made in her memory to the SPCA Humane Society of Monterey County. Memorial services will be held at a date to be announced.

MARY ANN CONLEY

Mary Ann Conley, 65, of Monterey, died at Community Hospital on January 12, following a long illness. Mrs. Conley was a lifelong resident of the county; she was born May 29, 1929 in Monterey.

A homemaker, Mrs. Conley is survived by her son, Vernon Conley of Carmel Valley; her daughter, Camille Trujillo of Santa Rosa; and a granddaughter.

A memorial mass was celebrated on January 14 at San Carlos Cathedral in Monterey. Private cremation was held under the direction of Mission Mortuary in Monterey.

1995's 1st fatality

On January 9, twenty-five year old Jimmy Ruiz Medrano of Salinas was driving a garbage truck for Carmel Marina Corporation, heading westbound on Carmel Valley, east of Rancho San Carlos Road, Carmel Valley, when a large cypress tree, which was on the south side of the roadway, became uprooted and fell on top of the cab of the garbage truck, crushing the cab and killing Medrano instantly.

The Coroner's Office and the California Highway Patrol are investigating the incident. The recent heavy rains appear to have caused the tree to become uprooted and fall. Two other trees next to this tree also fell while investigators were at the scene.

The roadway was closed for three hours while county work crews cleared the roadway and cut down other unstable trees alongside the road.

Medrano's body was taken to the Monterey Peninsula Mortuary in Seaside where an autopsy was performed on January 10.

Benefit slated at Buckeye for CV Library

Carmel Valley Kiwanians will co-host the 1st Annual Evening at the Buckeye fund-raiser to benefit the Carmel Valley Friends of the Library.

"This is the kind of community activity we look for," announced Bruce Michels, current Kiwanis president. "We're glad to share the effort with the Friends of the Library."

C.V. Kiwanis has been sponsor of the Reading is Fundamental project at the village library for several years, so the club's support of the Night at the Old Buckeye event is a natural extension of their efforts.

those things that happen by popular demand," said Barry Harrow, event organizing chairman. "When former patrons and staff would reminisce, they ended their conversations with me by saying how nice it would be to get together at the Buckeye again. It seemed a good idea for a fund-raiser, and Friends of the Library board president Susan McDonald-Brodey got the green light from the Friends."

Night at the Old Buckeye will recreate the music, food, beverages and ambiance of twenty years ago, 7 p.m. to midnight on Saturday, February 18 at the Buckeye Library. Donations are $10 per person.

Question: What would you like to see happen in the village?

John Pfeiffer
Building Contractor

I'm a soccer nut, so I'd like to see a soccer field built.

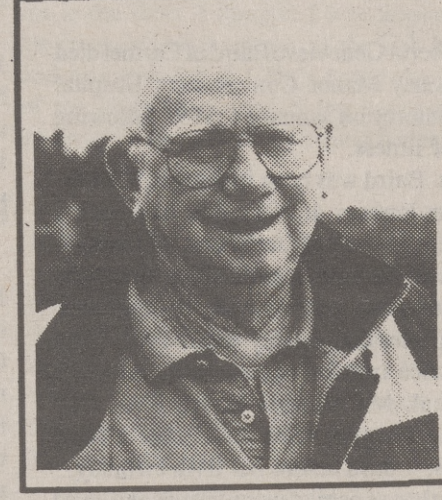

Pauline Kirby
Acupuncturist

I'd like to see a Japanese restaurant open. I don't want to see any further development. There is enough traffic. I like the size of the community as it is.

Richard Newcome

I would like to see more people patronizing the local businesses here in the village to support the merchants. It's almost become too much a "bedroom community." The shopping is done at the big markets and stores and they don't patronize the local businesses.

Don Marks
Retired PG&E Worker

I would not like the village to become a city, but I think that's where it's going. I'd like it kept as rural as possible.

Pebble Beach adopts plan to reduce pesticide damage

The Pebble Beach Company completed a Risk Assessment Study to determine the effects of using various fertilizers and pesticides in the forest environment as part of the Environmental Impact Report prepared for the proposed new Forest Golf Course.

This type of study is not required for the Environmental Impact Report but was done proactively to prevent unnecessary damage to the sensitive coastal forest environment.

The Risk Assessment Study included extensive mapping to determine the surface and underground water flow within the forest. The breakdown and absorption rates of various chemicals within the forest environment were also identified. While this study was performed for the proposed Forest Golf Course, the Pebble Beach Company has applied this information to their other golf courses and developed an Integrated Pest Management Plan.

Prior to increased environmental awareness, it was common to spray golf courses regularly with pesticides and fertilizers as a preventative method. The Integrated Pest Management Program basically calls for identification of specific areas that are diseased or unhealthy, and then the exhaustion of all other methods of pest and disease control prior to applying chemicals. This includes on foot scouting to determine which, if any, areas are diseased or pest ridden and employing bio-controls such as worms or fungus which consume undesirable organisms. Disease and pest resistant strains of grass are also being used.

Three chemicals have been entirely removed from the Pebble Beach Company's arsenal to protect the Marine Sanctuary from chemical laden runoff. The application of other chemicals has been minimized and revised employing the Risk Assessment Study information on water flow and chemical absorption rates to minimize chemical intrusion into the Ocean and groundwater.

CVPOA meeting report

By Elizabeth Cowley

The Carmel Valley property Owners Association (CVPOA) Board of Directors held their monthly meeting last Wednesday, January 11, at the Mid Valley Fire station. Vice President Greenwood presided as the President was detained due to storm damage. The meeting was called to order and the minutes from December's meeting were approved.

The CVPOA reiterated its position that new developments should be required to show proof of a long term water supply in the early stages of planning rather than at the end. The CVPOA would offer developers to prove water up front, prior to incurring the major expense of finalizing development plans, so that developers can not use their expenditure and time as an excuse to proceed without sufficient water.

Mr. Steck reported that the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District invited the CVPOA to present the results of their membership poll at their next meeting, January 26.

The Carmel Valley Library is proceeding with their "Buckeye Reunion" fundraiser on February 18 to be held at the library.

The Activities and Publicity Committee announced that Brian Finnegan will speak on the "Elements of Planning" and John Williams will speak on the timely "State of the Carmel River" at the next CVPOA meeting which will be held at 7:30 on February 8 at the St. Phillips Lutheran Church.

Erosion in area "F" of the Carmel Valley Ranch, the area above the hotel, has been an ongoing concern of both the CVPOA and Carmel Valley Ranch Residents. The land Use Committee reported that the golf course renovations currently under construction include a new drainage system which should prevent future erosion. The area previously eroded has been graded.

The Carmel Valley Ranch is still hoping to decrease the number of condominiums by 23 or 25 in area "F" in exchange for an additional 44 hotel rooms. The CVPOA is investigating this "swap" to ensure that both traffic and water impacts are neutral.

The Land Use Committee further reported that the Environmental Impact Report for the Carmel Greens - Gamboa development project is complete and comments on it will be accepted through February 17. In response to a letter from the CVPOA, the County is looking into whether the 16 acre feet of water that Mr. Gamboa used last year for "agriculture" represented beneficial water use or water waste as no evidence of agriculture on this property is apparent to the CVPOA board. If it is deemed that this water use was indeed for agriculture, Mr. Gamboa could request an agricultural water conversion allowing him to use this water for the Carmel Greens development.

The CVPOA is in support of a comprehensive review of the Carmel Valley Master Plan as opposed to piecemeal revisions and amendments. The CVPOA Board moved and approved a proposition to facilitate informative public forums on the Carmel Valley Master Plan and report their public opinion findings to the Board of

Ballots for the CVPOA Board election must be in by Friday, February 27th and the Nominating Committee will count them the following day.

The Transportation and Recreation Committee reported that the hearing regarding the Carmel Valley Trails Plan created by the appointed Citizens Committee was canceled due to flooding in Carmel Valley. This meeting was rescheduled for January 24 at 11:30 am in the Supervisors Chambers in Salinas. A map of the proposed Trails Plan is available for review in the Carmel Valley Library.

Chamber plans 1995 installation

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce is extending an invitation to members, guests and friends to attend the Chamber's 40th Annual Installation Dinner Dance and 41st Annual Good Egg Award at Rancho Canada on Saturday, January 29, 1995.

Cocktails will begin at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. Dancing will be to the music of the Kenny Stahl Band. Tickets are $35 per person, or $65 per couple. Reservations may be made at 659-4000.

The installation of officers for 1995 will be held for: President, Burney Threadgill, First National Bank of Central California; First Vice-President, Pamela Norton, Mid-Valley Travel; Second Vice-President: Dorothy McEwen, The Holman Ranch; Secretary, Dee Dee Smallwood, Bank of America; Treasurer, Don Condren, Attorney at Law; Past President, Randy Randazzo, Carmel Valley Market.

Directors will be: Joseph E. Battilega, CPA; Barry Harrow, Attorney at Law; Marjorie Loughridge, Carmel Gold Printing; Candy Meyer, Valley Lodge; Patricia Poile, First American Title Insurance; Judy Pospishil, Comerica; and Leslie Voss, Carmel Valley Realty.

Ann Olivier continues as the Executive Director.

Bernardus announces new general manager

Bernardus owner Ben Pon announced that Joe Davis began leading the Bernardus team as general manager beginning January 1, 1995. "Joe brings to us his extensive background in working with fruit from Carmel Valley and Monterey County appellations, and shares my conviction that the Carmel Valley is one of the finest areas in the new world for growing Bordeaux-style varieties," says Ben.

Joe represents the fourth generation from Monterey County. Raised in an established Monterey fishing family, he received his degree in Psychology from the University of Washington. While working during college in a wine shop, it was a bottle of 1978 Domaine Dujac Clos de la Roche that changed the course of his life. In that moment he knew he would practice the art of winemaking, and over the course of the next two years he completed his work in viticulture and enology at Davis.

Joe's talents are reflected in the Carmel Valley and Monterey County wines that he made over the past ten years for Morgan Winery - one of Monterey's premier wine producers. "As winemaker for Morgan, as well as regional sales manager for their Southeast region, I had the opportunity of experiencing all aspects of how a successful winery should be run. With my background in sales and production, I look forward to helping realize all the wonderful opportunities which have been cultivated by the superb team already in place at Bernardus. I share Ben Pon's dream to create wines from the Carmel Valley equal to the finest from Bordeaux," continues Joe.

"Great wine, like great art, is the expression of the uniqueness of the person who creates it. I am delighted that Don Blackburn as winemaker is a key member of the Bernardus team, and I look forward to his continuing to make great Bernardus wines," concludes Joe.

Red Cross flood report

The Carmel Red Cross closed its shelter at Carmel Middle School at 3 p.m. Wednesday, January 11. All displaced flood victims have found or been placed in other temporary housing. Shelters will be reopened if needed.

Qualifying flood victims can obtain assistance and emergency financial aid at the Middle School. They will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. This is on a day to day basis. It would be wise to call The Carmel Red Cross at 624-6921 and check.

The Red Cross is seeking contributions or funds to purchase clean-up supplies. Flooded residents are in need of bleach, brooms, squeegees with handles, paper towels and related equipment. Also needed are canned or boxed drinks.

The business community has responded with contribution that include: bottled water from Big Sur Water Company, baked goods from the Monterey Baking Company, clean-up supplies from Orchard Supply, free tree cutting services from Daniel Yoshizato, stuffed animal for children from Toys Etc., free coffee and doughnuts by the Baja Cantina in Carmel Valley and meal for Red Cross volunteers by The Pebble Beach Company, and Flaherty's.

Concours Italiana to continue in 1995

The ninth annual Concours Italiana, to take place on Friday, August 18th at Quail Lodge Resort & Golf Club, will feature the automotive designs of Giorgetto Giugiaro and Italdesign. In addition, Giugiaro will bring his display of industrial design, including furniture, clothing, yachts - even pasta.

Giugiaro himself will attend as the event's special guest. Italdesign prototype vehicles scheduled to be displayed include the 1969 Alfa Romeo Iguana, the 1986 Machimoto, the 1991 Nazea C2 and the 1993 Bugatti EB112. A display of Giugiaro designed production vehicles is also being organized. Owners of Giugiaro cars are encouraged to contact the Concours Italiana office for applications and further details.

Concours Classique, planned to take place on the Saturday after Concours Italiana, has been cancelled. Organizers have decided the effort and time to coordinate the second day would detract from the quality of the Concours Italiana on Friday.

"This is great, you can go to all these restaurant and only park once," observed one guest.

Offering 222 items, the silent auction sparked lively bidding activity. A flurry of action could be observed around the backhoe time and the "Radio Flyer" red wagon. Other offerings covered works by world renowned local artist, dinners, clothing, jewelry, hotels, wines, personal care services, sporting equipment, plants and home improvements. This is just to let you know what you miss, so you can plan to be there next year.

Some of the guests that stayed for the entertainment were rewarded with cash door prizes thoughtful provide by Dorothy McEwen of The Holman Ranch along with other gift items.

Kathleen Tarp raised the tent when she sang "Just In Time" to thank the volunteers who are helping to clean-up the Rosies' Bridge flood victims. Gennady Loktionov accompanied her duet with Thomas Dukett while the singing sheriff, Pat Duval belted out his favorites with the Steve Tosh on the keyboard.

The event concluded with numbered signs waving in response to the professional skills of auctioneer Alan Drew. The live auction included exotic vacations, catered dinners, a youth tennis scholarship and chefs to prepare dinners in your home.

Memory Lane: Where have they gone, the Kiwanis and the Merchants? Does anyone here remember the Carpenters and the Contractors? Where are the Pistons now? Just for a moment, let's look back at the history of Little League in Carmel Valley. Herewith a few quotes from a recent CVLL publication, with special thanks to Ralph Juarez and the Ellsberry family.

"The Carmel Valley Little League started in 1958 under the name of 'Little League Baseball of Carmel Valley, California, Inc.' Austin Mayfield was elected the first League President and the first ballpark was constructed behind the Fire Station. The playing surface was all dirt, no grass, even in the outfield -- and there was no raised pitcher's mound, but it was a playing field.

"The four teams (Kiwanis, Red Sox, Volunteers, and Merchants) fought a battle for the 1958 pennant, with the Merchants becoming the first Carmel Valley Little League Champions."

A thought: we're looking for coaches and managers with good resumes. Who better than charter members of the League? Give us a call, guys.

To continue our story... "At the end of the 1966 season the Fire Department realized that it needed to expand its fire station onto the area occupied by the ball field. The growing League... found its present home at the foot of Paso Hondo Road.

"The current site of the Little League Park was donated by Genevieve de Dampierre. According to one of (her) sons, Tony de Sugny, she always had a tremendous concern for children and was pleased to be instrumental in the new Little League Park's development...

"The new field opened May 8, 1967, for four Little League teams and two 'PeeWee' squads. Nearly 100 children played that first year in the new park."

By comparison... In 1994 over 300 Carmel Valley children swelled the rosters of five major teams, four AA teams, six A teams, eight T-ball teams, and four softball squads. Is it any wonder that we hear talk of a Third Field?

Moving ahead... "The 1974 season stands out in the League history for its All Star team. That collection of boys, managed by Augie Acuna, remains the most successful All Star Team in Carmel Valley Little League history.

"The team captured the District 39 All Star Championship in July, 1974, at the Carmel Valley park by beating Watsonville 3-0.

"In 1980 construction began on the larger second field, named for Jim Shakal and commonly referred to as the 'new field.' Again, following hundreds of hours of volunteer labor and untold donations of equipment and supplies by local merchants and contractors, a field was constructed out of the rocks and dirt of the Valley floor...

"The most recent addition is the practice infield between the two existing fields. Completed in 1991, this area gives coaches and players another space to take ground balls and learn the joys and pains of trying to pick up fast moving objects.

"Meanwhile, the T-ball program for 6-7 year olds has grown to include more than 100 future Little League boys and girls."

A woman scorned?... Not a chance. Nick Garnero has promised some information for this column soon regarding the excellent Carmel Valley softball program, another marvelous addition since those days of 1958.

How sweet it will be... Keep your wallet handy: plans are afoot for a candy sale fund-raiser for CV Little League. Watch this column for details. (This event is NOT sponsored by the American Dental Association.)

One last Dew drop... Peter Dew, our VP and equipment manager, notes that CVLL buys 60 dozen baseballs per season. Let's see: 720 balls at $36 per dozen, that's -- well, just have the correct response at fund-raising time.

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

I am disgusted beyond belief with Rancho Canada, Pacific Grove Municipal Golf Course, and all golfers who take themselves so seriously. Remember it is only a game! How can shooting coot be justified in the name of a game?

If golfers do not want birds pooping on their artificially produced lawn, get rid of the artificial ponds that attract the birds in the first place. Acres and acres of natural land are destroyed for an artificial sense of aesthetics. Innumerable herbicides and pesticides are pumped on to "perfect" greens which, inevitably, end up in the water supply, which, in turn, is overused to keep the grass green.

Do we need more golf courses? Do we not have an enormous variety of golf courses on the Monterey Peninsula already? I often feel as though I am living in a golfers Disneyland. Why must we all suffer (including wildlife) so a very few may enjoy a game?

Will the Canadian Geese be next? How about the deer? By creating such an artificial habitat, a whole ecosystem is destroyed. In the field that once was, lived ground squirrels, badgers, foxes, coyotes, rabbits, bobcats, and much more. Now there is sterility and a few birds trying to eke out a living in this hostile environment. God forbid their pooping on the grass! Quick, get your gun. Perhaps one should regard the coot poop as free fertilizer.

Since coots are hardly at the top of the edible bird list, they shall all end up rotting in a landfill, wasted, in order for a few overgrown rich kids to enjoy a game. What an embarrassing shame.

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

Thank heavens we are an "odd mixture of individuals living in this valley." That is what allows Mark Enayati to entertain his idea of the Carmel Valley Village as Disneyland, with all the features he identified in his personal fantasy.

What makes us all able to live together and pursue our goals is our ability to discuss alternatives, reach consensus, and plan for changes we can all live with. Mr. Enayati does not seem to know how that is done, nor how it has been done in the past. Although most Carmel Valley residents have heard of the Carmel Valley Master Plan, not many are aware of the Carmel Valley Village Design Guidelines which were also adopted by the Board of Supervisors.

If Mr. Enayati had looked in the Carmel Valley Master Plan, he would have found no mention of the completed Village Design Guidelines. If he was looking for Carmel Valley historical or architectural resources, he would not have found it in the Carmel Valley Master Plan, either. He would not find the Master Drainage Plan for Carmel Valley, although a policy calls for an assessment to finance drainage in the valley; also an assessment to help fund areawide ecological planning and management, fees to pay for off-site major thoroughfares, and for downstream drainage improvement.

Is Mr. Enayati alone in his lack of understanding? Not at all! Our Carmel Valley Master Plan has become outdated. It is not an easily understood document, and it should be. It is not a complete document, and it should be.

For this reason, the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association has proposed a public review of this document for purposes of updating it. They think this review will allow all of us, Mr. Enayati as well, to discuss alternatives, reach consensus, and plan for the future we all would like to see.

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

I received a call regarding my letter published in the December 29, 1994 issue of the Carmel Valley Sun. The caller felt my letter was a little unclear. There were a few typos introduced into my letter in the publishing process which may have clouded some of my intended thoughts. Therefore, I offer this concise summery for clarification.

1. The level of traffic service declined on Segment 6 of Carmel Valley Road in 1991 (3 years ago), thereby pulling the "trigger."
2. No restoration of levels of traffic service has occurred since then.
3. Development continues in contravention of the Court order.

Therefore, a moratorium on new development (issuance of any building permits) in the affected area should be immediately declared (and should have been declared 3 years ago).

My conclusion is that such a moratorium could and should only be lifted when the levels of traffic service have been restored to the levels previously in existence at the time of the Order. If that never happens, for whatever reason (political, economic, etc., the moratorium should never be lifted.

Traffic safety issues should be addressed independently and immediately. They are a separate issue and should never be confused with the "trigger" issue.

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun;

After inspecting the condition of the electrical wiring and appliances in several of the homes affected by the flood in Mission Fields, I was surprised at how little damage I found.

I was also surprised when I heard a contractor tell me that he had replaced all the receptacles in one house.

All electrical receptacles that I inspected which had been covered by water, were in good working order as were most appliances (dryers, washers, refrigerators and even electrical beds).

If you, as a homeowner are concerned with the status of your electrical system and appliances, please have a qualified and licensed person check the operation of them, as I am quite optimistic that you will find little damage.

Good luck in your recovery.

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

The current heavy rains do little to alleviate the Monterey Peninsula's chronic water supply shortage because we do not have the storage facilities to make use of this kind of rainfall. The two tiny reservoirs filled last week, so the river is running to the ocean.

The proposed New Los Padres Dam and Reservoir would solve this problem. The reservoir is sized so that it would fill in about one week in weather like this, but it would hold enough water to make a difference in a multi-year drought. Water stored in the winter high flow season will be used for drought reserve and instream flow. The public will vote on the New Los Padres Project in November 1995.

To put it briefly, we don't have a water shortage on the Monterey Peninsula. We have a shortage of storage facilities. We have a very limited ability to store water during wet and normal years to help us get through the inevitable drought years.

There is a need for the public to understand how our water supply situation differs from the Salinas Valley and other areas of the State. For example, the Salinas Valley draws from Nacimiento and San Antonio Reservoirs, each of which hold roughly 300,000 acre-feet, but rarely fill.

In contrast, the Peninsula draws from two tiny reservoirs on the Carmel River with a total storage of 2,500 acre-feet.

The New Los Padres Reservoir will be 24,000 acre-feet in size, or about 10 times current capacity. It will easily fill in a single year with normal, or even below-normal conditions.

MURPHY'S LAW OF SELLING REAL ESTATE

To keep my sanity in the volatile business of real estate, I opted a cosmic rule that goes like this: "The best thing will happen, no matter what."

The rule has a profound impact if you consider it was, I'm sure, Murphy himself who developed actual laws for buying and selling California homes.

I'm not talking about the actual legal jargon it takes to sell a home. I'm saying this: "The best thing will happen at the right time, and if it doesn't, you'll find out soon enough it wasn't meant to be. Because something even better will take its place, you'll be relieved when what you thought would happen, didn't, even though I tried to make you think it would have been the absolute greatest thing that could have happened and we were both disappointed at the time."

Doug and Nancy Curley know exactly what I'm talking about. They are every agent's ideal client.

When they called me up last spring to list their small three-bedroom Monterey house, I told them the market was going down and many people experience lots of frustration trying to sell. They have a growing family, though, and really need a bigger home, like five bedrooms. They instantly saw that with a soft market, they would be in a great position, once they sold their house, to negotiate a good deal. They "trusted me." After a flurry of showings, nobody seemed to want their house, so they asked if they should lower their price. I said it would be wise, so they dropped it $10,000.

They got more showings, but still no interest. Several months passed. They would call me about every two weeks and say that all the fliers were gone, asking if we'd bring more.

I'd ask them how they were feeling, and they'd respond that they were so busy at work that it's a good thing nobody wants the house yet.

Near Labor Day they started to get a little antsy.

"Maybe we should come down a little further," they said. Good idea. They lowered the price another $10,000. Nancy could "see" the holidays in her new kitchen. Still, nothing happened.

We advertised to trade the house for a bigger one. Eureka! We heard about a large home in Skyline Forest the owner wanted to sell and buy a small home near downtown. Yes, they would consider Doug and Nancy's. That was it!

Nancy and I raced over there, spending two hours trying to figure out how to make a four-bedroom home into a five-bedroom home. I suggested someone could sleep in the garage. So much for that.

Thanksgiving. No one was coming by, so Doug and Nancy decided to move their furniture around and rip out all the old wall-to-wall carpeting.

"We'll expose the hardwood floors."

They were depressed. They couldn't come down much further in price and didn't know what else to do.

Although they hired me to sell their house, it seemed like it might not happen at the price they needed. I suggested they consider keeping it as a rental, and proceed with a purchase.

After talking with a lender they discovered they could indeed refinance their existing home and still qualify for their dream home. But did they want to become landlords?

I took them house-hunting in Deer Flats. There were a lot of nice homes, but the only thing they liked was a house being sold by owner, and the owner didn't cooperate with agents.

After Christmas we went to Carmel Valley to look. By now, they had decided they were going to buy a home, no matter what. And there was one they really liked. Doug was ready to go for it, but Nancy told me she wanted to look in Salinas, just to satisfy her curiosity. Salinas is like going to Greece for me, so being the "trustworthy" agent I am, I suggested they use another agent more familiar with the area.

They came back more excited about the house they saw with me in Carmel Valley.

"What should I look out for, Rand?" Nancy asked. I gave her some ideas and to relieve her anxiety, suggested she go to the area and ask neighbors for feedback on the subdivision. I knew they were ready to buy this house and now, even though I would not make a commission on their house that I had listed, I was still able to help them get something they liked in Carmel Valley!

Would you believe it? We found out that half the owners of this subdivision had filed a class action suit against the builder. Talk about disappointment! I think Murphy has a warped sense of humor. We were now back to square one.

Sunday night around 7:45 I received a call from a couple who had seen the For Sale sign in Monterey and wanted to look at the house on Monday. When I called Doug and Nancy to set an appointment, they said, "We found a house in Salinas today with the other agent, and put an offer on it! We were going to tell you that we're going to keep this one as a rental."

They were happy, but I was out of luck. When I showed the couple the house on Monday, I came prepared to take my sign down in defeat. Turns out the couple loved it and decided to buy it!

"Could the sellers be out in one month?" they asked "Absolutely!" I said, reading my cosmic rule again.

It is estimated that $13 trillion will pass from our senior generation to heirs, or where there are no heirs, to public funds or to charity.

That's a lot of money. More than has been transferred from any generation previously in our country.

It is natural for us to behave as though other people die, but not us. We tend to put off thinking about it, and a surprising number of us put off doing anything about it.

Pay the bills and set something aside for old age if there's anything left; the rest we can arrange later.

Among our list of "things to do this year," it wouldn't hurt to make time for a brief review of what we own, who should get it when we're gone, and what it might cost to make it happen that way.

This would be an inestimable service to heirs, particularly if there are two or more children in the family. You and I would be amazed to learn just what our children value as family treasure: the Train Set, the Blue China, the Antique Rocker, The Matchbook Collection. Make it clear who gets what. Put tags on the back of things. List items in a last will and testament along with who gets the house and the bank accounts. Write an obituary; if you don't someone else will, and do you think they'll get it right?

If the total value of assets approaches a million dollars or more, you can make definite estate planning arrangements now, or share your estate with fellow Americans when you're gone.

$13 trillion... hmmm. I wonder what my share will be?

R.E. closing costs Questions and Answers

A: Surprisingly, "who pays" is not uniform from county to county in California. In some counties the buyer will pay while in others the seller will pay. In other counties the seller will pay for the owner's title policy and they buyer will pay for the lender's policy. But in every case, the question of who pays closing costs is a matter of agreement between the buyer and seller. Usually this agreement is based on the customary practice in your county.

Q: Why are separate owner's and lender's title insurance policies issued?

and with bus drivers. "They made all the difference in the world," he said.

In yet a third presentation, elementary counselors and the district's director of pupil services outlined the 1994/1995 parent education program. To visually and dramatically illustrate the state of parenting, the presenters picked on Hightower to come forward in front of the audience and "pin the tail on the donkey". Yes, they had him blindfolded and even spun him around a time or two, in order to show how often parents operate "in the dark".

To facilitate the learning process and build long-term parenting skills, Trudy Dowd and Jan Day help host a series of workshops that range from STEP (Systematic Training for Effective Parenting), to Active Parenting and Banana Splits for Parents. Other sessions discuss preparing for fourth and sixth graders to be drug free and how to support a child's academic growth.

Participation and response to the seminars have been tremendous, Dowd and Day reported. Certain sessions have a $40 fee because a private contractor might be brought in to facilitate. In those cases, the district has a liberal scholarship policy to involve as many parents as possible. Child care is available at all sessions, free of charge. In some cases, textbooks cost approximately $12.

In other business, the board approved the administration's request to conduct a study that will determine the feasibility of implementing a Developer Fee Program, similar to programs already in place in

Other agenda items were either discussed or tabled. Carmel Valley High School teacher Bruce Stannard presented the 1995/1996 School Calendar Development as proposed by the Association of Carmel Teachers. The Classified School Employees Association has a different Action was delayed on the authorization for a license to install a temporary subsurface irrigation line on district property, as proposed by Clifford Dias and Patricia Lucas, Trustees of Carmel Valley Greens, Ltd. Instead, a public hearing regarding the matter is set for the board's next regular meeting of Jan. 26, at 7 p.m., Carmel Middle School.
